RENAISSANCE AND MODERN STUDIES

NOTES

Renaissance and Modern Studies is a research journal published in a single annual volume of some 160 pages. Each volume is dedicated to a specific topic or theme and contains eight articles by invited contributors. The journal is interdisciplinary in nature involving discourse on single or comparative aspects of literature and literary theory, languages, history and economic history, theology, philosophy, fine art, anthropology, etc.. The editors aim to present the most up-to-date criticism of a specific area of debate within the broad Humanities of the period from the Renaissance to the modern day; they also seek to present a forum in which specialist scholars can address themselves to the central problems of their subject in the light of the most recent developments. The scope of Renaissance and Modern Studies is, thus, wide in terms of disciplines and concentrated in its focus on a particular area of interest. No reviews are undertaken.

Subscriptions and orders should be addressed to Mrs. N. Hazzledine, Business Manager, c/o Department of English Studies, University of Nottingham, University Park, Nottingham, NG7 2RD, from whom earlier volumes (other than volume I) may be obtained. The published price is £5.50, postage extra.
